CHINESE LAW.

WE some time since suggested that the experiment be tried of permitting foreigners to place themselves under Chinese law, pure and simple, in non-Consular localities, with of course the provise that their governments would interfere in cases of injustice just as they would interfere in European states. The idea-Utopian enough it may be in its bare outline, but susceptible we firmly believe of practical development-has attracted some notice in other quarters, and we observe with pleasure that suggestions tending to the same end have of late appeared in the columns of North China contemporaries. The great drawback-in fact, the sole reason why the British Government insists upon practical exterritoriality as regards its subjeots in China-is that the Chinese law founded upon the penal code outrages our sense of justice, even when carried out in the strictest accordance with its provisions, and no European would be found to submit to what the native mind is accustomed to regard as justifiable severity. Hence the impossibity of the scheme we suggest being carried out until some modification takes place in the code of law. The real question hinger upon this possibility of inducing the Chinese, by force or persuasion, to so far make their principles of judicial admito Europeans who render themselves amenable to prosecution. We observe that a suggestion has been made by a correspondent of the Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, which, if it were practicable; would be an admirable step towards the desired result. He says :-

"I am very anxious that you should advocate in your influential paper the expediency at some future time of all foreigners in China being made amenable to one law. would propose the Code Napoleon as the most comprehensive and complete: first that it should be administered at every port where a resident officer, or Consul—call him what you will - should be stationed and that an appeal should lie from this Court, on the motion of the resident official, to the High Authorities at Pekin. The several Tagutais would, it is of course supposed undergo some preliminary training at Pekin before being nominated to an appointment. Though causes or cases in which foreigners alone were concerned, were still to be tried at Shanghai, the main difficulties of exterritorial jurisdiction would vanish; the necessity of expensive Consular establishments at the var.ous ports would cease; the strong hand of the Law would be with difficulty avoided by the evil door; and there would be reason to expect an impartial administration of justice. I offer the foregoing as little more than suggestions. * * * The influence of the foreign Custom's employes and non-judicial Consular Officers should prove ample to prevent any serious wrong being done the foreigner at a port, and a sense of responsibility, it is to be hoped, might lead the native official to take more impartial views of matters than the present system."

The Gazette says that it believes the subject "has long been under the anxious consideration of the British Minister," to which we can only add the expression of our sincere hope that action is contemplated. It is an undoubted fact that ideas connected with progress in China which at the time of utterance seem Utopian, eventually become facts either 71 per cent, pre: that the one under notice may afford a fresh illustration of the statement.

· (Recorder.) In the last number of Notes and Queries fact is mentioned which may be of som importance in regard to the future relations of foreigners with China, so far as they are nfluenced by those superstitions which it is supposed not as an insuperable barrier to the introduction of improvements into this. Empire. It appears that the Fung Shui superstition is denounced in Yung Cheng's Sacred Edict " as among the impostures and false doctrines, the practice of which is subject by law to the penalty of death. This fact is new, and in a great measure startling, to those who have been in the habit of regarding the doctrine as one so engraven in the minds of the people, and so thoroughly believed in by them, that it is impossible to introduce any change that might interfere with their ideas on the sub ject. It now seems that so far from this being the case, the doctrines of Fung Shui are recognized even by the Chinese themselves as impostures, and that in consequence of their pernicious tendency, they are made the subject of punishment. Like most other laws in China this doubtless has become from the supineness of the officials. in a great measure valueless, and is violated openly in many directions. The liberal ideas of Europeans are scarcely consonant wi h persecution of any kind; but notwith-B' a ding this, we believe many must feel a certain sympathy with an edict against practice so absurd as that of the Fung Shui Sien Sange, who work upon the ignorance Free discussion, the spread knowledge, the cultivation of science are in European countries the safest antidote against surpertitions of so pnerile a nature gaining a hold upon the people ; but in China perhaps the only way in which they can at first be got at is by their being denonnced at head quarters.

The point which is of importance to Euwe have now distinct proof that the ideas, as to the impossibility of overcoming this surperstition are at least exaggerated. not in a great degree unfounded. T Ohinese authorities are probably as little able to make Buy progress in overcoming this abuse as in suppressing any other the numerous delinquencies which are openly practiced in defiance of the Laws. But if pressure were brought to bear upon them. they would probably be able to exercise oni:e influence enough to prevent the Funa Shul doctrine interfering with any scheme of improvement, they were really desirous

It so hap pens that five years ago, in April or May. 1863, he accepted provisionally the challenge of the editors of this journal to come down to our office and here hold a séance -we giving a pledge that we would de scribe honourably and minutely in our of the multitude as a means of obtaining columns whatever phenomena might here occur, whether the office table should ascend in heavy flight to the ceiling, or the editors themselves should be lifted in preternatural ecstasy from the earth where they are but too wont to tread. Mr Home at that time, as at this, was in "weak health," and while hoping to accept our challenge "in June," was finally compelled by that weak liealth to leave for the Conment before doing so: and he never renewed the engagement, though solicited by us so to do. If we remember rightly, Mr Home also made the doubt which we were compelled to express as to the satisfactors character of an explanation, tendered by him as to a preternatural event in Incidents of My Life which did not seem to us consistent with history, a preliminary ground of difficulty, as evincing a disposi tion on our part not to treat him fairly. We find, in May, 1868, with great regret that Mr Home is still in weak health; he is still willing to hold a seance Juno" with Dr. Tyndall if his health allow him; and that he is still disposed to object to anything in Dr. Tyndall's state mind which seems to him inconsistent with the spirit of a student of spiritualism. do not say that this disposition of Mr The unexpectedly high prices paid for Home's, after evincing at first the greatest Tea and Silk on the opening of the markets willingness and even desire for inquiry, to and you added that it is the same wall day, but was pushed inside a room, and for the season, have been a subject of won- find difficulties in the preliminaries which which had damaged the mains for the gas could not speak to him, although she heard der to many, and seem to point to some re- eventually prevent that inquiry, proves his last year. AT AUH dem Norddeutschen Bundes-Gesetz vom 25ten October 1867 haben alle Kauffahrteischiffe der Bundesstaaten, also namentlich die Preussens, Mecklen burgs, Oldenburgs und der Städte Bremen, Hamburg und Lübeck vom 1ten April 1868 ab als Nationalflagge ausschliesslich die Lundesflagge zu führen.

Dieselbe bildet nach der Königlichen im Namen des Bundes erlassenen Verordnung vom 25sten October 1867 ein längliches Rechteck, bestehend aus drei gleichbreiten horizontalen Streifen, von welchen der obere schwarz, der mittlere weiss und der untere roth ist. Das Verhältniss der Höhe der Flagge zur Länge ist wie zwei zu drei. Die Bundesflagge wird von den Schiffen am Heck oder am hinteren Maste-und zwar in der Regel an der Gaffel dieses Mastes, in Ermangelung einer solchen aber am Top oder am Want geführt. Ein besonderes Abzeichen 1 der Bundestlagge oder einen Wimpel zu führen, ähnlich demjenigender Kriegsmarine des Norddeutschen Bundes, ist den Kauf-

Die Kauffahrteischiffe haben die Bundes flagge stets zu hissen, sobald sie ein Schiff oder Fahrzeug der Bundeskriegsmarine, eine Festung oder ein Küstenfort passiren, welche ihre Nationalflagge gesetzt haben. Dasselbe gilt bei der Begegnung mit Kriegs-schiffen befreundeter Mächte auf See.

Nach § 18 des Flaggengesetzes gentigen die bisher von den einzelnen Landesbehörden ertheilten Certificate auch zur Führung der Bundesflagge. Alle nur mit interimistischen Consular-Certificaten versehenen norddeutschen Schiffe haben indessen sofort ihre Eintragung in der Heimath zu bewirken.
